Message from your Regional Director

Fellow International Christian Educator,

Growing up, our parents enrolled my siblings and me into Christian schools. Yes, all nine of us! I remember one Christmas season when I was in 2nd grade, my classmates and I had to memorize Luke 2:1-20 and recite it at the annual Christmas pageant. I've attended enough school Christmas pageants in my career that I can imagine now how cute us boys and girls must have been in our little suits and dresses back in the 60s, but I digress. I can't recite that passage in Luke word for word right now but it's on the tip of my tongue to this day. There is one verse tucked away away in that beautiful story, that has come to mean a lot to me. It's this one:

"But Mary treasured up all these things, pondering them in her heart". Luke 2:19

Fast forward from second grade to my third year at Bible college when I purchased a small spiral notebook just prior to going on my first overseas trip (an M-trip). I bought that notebook with the goal of recording the new experiences I would have in culture, food, language, ministry, and in my walk with God. I wanted to try to write something every day while I was away. That humble beginning eventually led to a nearly 4-decade long journaling habit that has gone on to include not just moments like overseas trips, but also the ordinary, the highs, the lows, the joys, and yes, a few heartaches and fears of everyday life. Never did I think when I started that those handwritten notebooks and journals (one for each year) would take up nearly a bookshelf and a half of space today!

Back to Luke 2:19, I don't think Mary journaled, but I think she had the right idea. As a young lady in Luke 2, she had just experienced some of the most extraordinary things a person could ever experience, things she didn't ever want to forget ("Mary treasured up"), and things she surely couldn't fully understand in the moment ("pondering them in her heart"). I have found that writing/journaling is a lot like Mary treasuring and pondering. Journaling is not only a way to treasure our present moments, but with the passing of time and looking back occasionally, we can also come to fully see, or ponder, how God was working in our past for our good in the present. Of course, not every day is Christmas Day as in Mary's case, but every day for the believer is a day of new mercies (Lamentations 3:22-33) to be treasured and pondered.

What about you? Many of you are living abroad in obedience to God's calling on your life. There is much you can treasure and ponder as an international Christian educator. Any chance there a brand-new blank journal on your Christmas wish list? I hope so.

May you find time to treasure and ponder during this Christmas break.

Merry Christmas.

Tim
