Suddenly, I could see a way to combine my call to foreign missions with my love for teaching. Not only would I be able to share the love of Jesus through the mode of an English language, American-styled, K-12 Christian education, but I could also support the work of frontline Ms and join in God’s work around the globe.

Fellow International Christian Educator,

This month I was given the opportunity to write a piece of international news for the ACSI US Snapshot. In it I shine a light on the opportunity to serve overseas at international Christian schools like yours. This is what I wrote…

If you had asked me around age 11 what I wanted to be when I grew up, I would have told you that I wanted to be a missionary to Italy. Why Italy? Because I loved Italian food and I was sure those people needed Jesus. Hey, if you gotta be a missionary, at least have great food, right? Food preference aside, I was quite sincere about the need to tell others the good news of the gospel wherever that might take me. Thankfully, as I grew older, God used some key experiences that resulted in a clearer call on my life that eventually led me to Christian schooling overseas.

One of those key experiences was a summer college missions trip to the Philippines that purposefully exposed our team to a broad range of traditional, frontline ministry opportunities...

ACSI International School Virtual Job Fair on 17-18 November 2020 is open for registration now. Please visit the job fair webpage to learn more about how it works.

International School Leaders Conference is on the calendar for 25–27 April 2021. We will decide to hold in-person or go virtual early in 2021.

Save the date: ICEC Asia 24-27 November 2021. Details to be confirmed.

We are sorry to announce that ICEC Africa for spring 2021 has been cancelled.

PFO2Go course remains available. One international school is taking a slow approach through PFO2Go this fall, enjoying one session at a time with their new staff and mentors. Another administrator in Central Asia wrote this about PFO2Go, “Well done on all the presentations by all the presenters. We found that PFO2Go was valuable for everyone who attended, and the administration is considering it a must-attend training for all staff.” Learn more and register at the PFO2Go website. If you are a head of school please reach out to me for time-limited free access to take a look at the course.

ACSI USA is offering their PD Forum event on a virtual platform this fall. We recommend that International schools wait until the PD Express version becomes available around on 15 October. The PD Express version will allow you to enjoy this conference any time and will include discussion guides for individuals or groups. Look for more information soon.

Calling all Kindergarten and Pre-kindergarten teachers and leaders. Please check out the ACSI EE conferences and free webinars. It is recommended that you also join the ACSI EE Community Group. Read more
- STEM Competitions and Webinars (a partnership with ACSI & Grand Canyon University) are open to international schools.

The NEW Language Arts series, K-Grade 2, is getting wonderful reviews from schools. Here’s one: "I completely fell in love with the new Language Arts materials! There is only one teacher’s edition. That alone is HUGE and makes teaching ELA so much easier. There are also great leveled readers to fit all of our students!" K. Admire, Christian Hills Schools

ACSI News
While our primary objective is to help Christian schools make disciples of Jesus Christ, ACSI raises the bar by balancing rigorous research-based best practices with time-tested biblical principles to create a flourishing academic experience that will transform how a Christian school community lives out their faith beyond their time in the classroom.
